Medulla-to-lobula-plate supports synthetic motion separability, not plasticity-driven learning